MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 80

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the March 2021 series for most Cambridge IGCSE™, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 17 printed pages.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

Social Science-Specific Marking Principles (for point-based marking)

1 Components using point-based marking:

- Point marking is often used to reward knowledge, understanding and application of skills. We give credit where the candidate's answer shows relevant knowledge, understanding and application of skills in answering the question. We do not give credit where the answer shows confusion.

From this it follows that we:

- a DO credit answers which are worded differently from the mark scheme if they clearly convey the same meaning (unless the mark scheme requires a specific term)
- b DO credit alternative answers/examples which are not written in the mark scheme if they are correct
- c DO credit answers where candidates give more than one correct answer in one prompt/numbered/scaffolded space where extended writing is required rather than list-type answers. For example, questions that require n reasons (e.g. State two reasons ...).
- d DO NOT credit answers simply for using a 'key term' unless that is all that is required. (Check for evidence it is understood and not used wrongly.)
- e DO NOT credit answers which are obviously self-contradicting or trying to cover all possibilities
- f DO NOT give further credit for what is effectively repetition of a correct point already credited unless the language itself is being tested. This applies equally to 'mirror statements' (i.e. polluted/not polluted).
- g DO NOT require spellings to be correct, unless this is part of the test. However spellings of syllabus terms must allow for clear and unambiguous separation from other syllabus terms with which they may be confused (e.g. Corrasion/Corrosion)

2 Presentation of mark scheme:

- Slashes (/) or the word 'or' separate alternative ways of making the same point.
- Semi colons (;) bullet points (•) or figures in brackets (1) separate different points.
- Content in the answer column in brackets is for examiner information/context to clarify the marking but is not required to earn the mark (except Accounting syllabuses where they indicate negative numbers).

3 Calculation questions:

- The mark scheme will show the steps in the most likely correct method(s), the mark for each step, the correct answer(s) and the mark for each answer
- If working/explanation is considered essential for full credit, this will be indicated in the question paper and in the mark scheme. In all other instances, the correct answer to a calculation should be given full credit, even if no supporting working is shown.
- Where the candidate uses a valid method which is not covered by the mark scheme, award equivalent marks for reaching equivalent stages.
- Where an answer makes use of a candidate's own incorrect figure from previous working, the 'own figure rule' applies: full marks will be given if a correct and complete method is used. Further guidance will be included in the mark scheme where necessary and any exceptions to this general principle will be noted.

4 Annotation:

- For point marking, ticks can be used to indicate correct answers and crosses can be used to indicate wrong answers. There is no direct relationship between ticks and marks. Ticks have no defined meaning for levels of response marking.
- For levels of response marking, the level awarded should be annotated on the script.
- Other annotations will be used by examiners as agreed during standardisation, and the meaning will be understood by all examiners who marked that paper.

1(b)	Relevant points might include
		Option A	Option B
	Revenue	$100 000 (L1)	$50 000 (L1)
	Cost of sales	$50 000 (L1)	$20 000 (L1)
	Gross profit	$50 000 (L2)	$30 000 (L2)
	GPM	50% (L2)	60% (L2)
	Additional expenses	$25 000 (App)	$10 000 (App)
	Total cost	$75 000 (L1)	$30 000 (L1)
	Profit	$25 000 (L2)	$20 000 (L2)
	PM	25% (L2)	40% (L2)
	Order A	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The revenue is much higher Gross profit is higher by $20 000 Profit is higher by $5000 However, GPM is lower at 50% PM is lower at 25% The customer made low number of orders – 3 times last year – may be a relatively new customer Total profit from the 3 orders is $75 000
	Order B	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Quantity ordered may be much lower as price is higher Although gross profit is lower, the GPM is higher at 60% Profit is lower but the PM is higher at 40% This is a regular customer and ordered 10 times last year and ST will not want to disappoint them Total profit from the 10 orders is $200 000
	Conclusion	To access L3 there must be either correct profit or profit margins calculated for each Order. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> On just the amount of profit made I would recommend choosing Order A as both gross profit and profit are higher than Order B and the quantity ordered is higher at 5000 for each order. This will enable ST to increase the amount of profit made. However, Order A is not made very often at only 3 times last year and so overall the amount of profit made over the year may be less for this Option A and so Option B might be better.

Question	Answer	Marks
1(b)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> On the gross and profit margins then Option B is better than Option A. Both margins are higher for Option B and therefore this has the higher profitability. This Option also has a higher number of orders over the year as each order is 1000 products and was ordered 10 times last year and so this Option is the better one to choose.

2(a)	Explain two ways Saanvi can increase the added value of ST products. One mark for each way (maximum of 2). Award a maximum of 3 additional marks for each explanation of how added value can be increased – one of which must be applied to this context. Relevant answers might include: Increase price (1) – explanation of why/how prices can be increased (1) such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> improve quality of the T-shirts improve reputation for high quality logos on the products establish brand image improve product features such as excellent customer service/USP Reduce input/raw material costs (1) explanation of how these can be reduced (1) such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> buy cheaper raw materials/find cheaper suppliers of T-shirts lower the quality of inputs such as cheaper fabric reduce the amount of inputs needed, for example redesign the T-shirts so they do not use as much fabric For example: Reduce raw material costs (1) such as buy cheaper fabric/material (app). ST could change to a cheaper supplier of raw materials (1). This will increase the gap between price and input costs and therefore increase added value (1). Application could include: t-shirts; customers' own designs; no other company offers guarantee of 100% satisfaction; high priced products aimed at niche markets; digital sewing machines; logo name or picture provided by customer. Note: The two ways can both come from either increased price or reduce input costs or one from each.	8

3(b)	Sai	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • He has a wide range of experience as he has worked for three different clothing businesses – suggests he is a talented employee • He is able to repair digital sewing machines – so can save ST the cost of repair – but he should be focusing on managing the Operations department and not repairing machinery
	Recommendation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Vivaan should be chosen as he has the most experience and this may help to increase output and improve efficiency for ST. Aarav lacks experience even though he is well qualified in management and Sai has not been an Operations Manager only an Assistant so also lacks the relevant experience when compared to Vivaan. • Aarav should be chosen as he is well qualified and should be able to communicate well with employees which is required due to the previous Operations Manager not motivating employees. Motivation and productivity need to be increased and Aarav seems to be more of a people person, whereas the other two applicants are skilled in using and repairing machines which is not required for the Operations Manager who should be focusing on running the factory. • Sai should be chosen as he is very experienced having worked in 3 different clothing factories and should be able to easily cope with gaining promotion to the Operations Manager having been an Assistant Manager for 2 years. This is better experience than the other two applicants as Aarav only has one years' experience and not as an Operations Manager only an Assistant and Vivaan has only worked for one business so may lack new ideas from other businesses.

Whereas increased government spending or lower taxes will take time to be effective and to have an effect on business marketing budgets.Government policies aimed at increasing spending could be argued as having the biggest effect on ST's revenue and moving into a slump as having less effect. This is because T-shirts are not an expensive item and if consumers have increased incomes from lower direct taxes then sales are likely to increase significantly. Also, if incomes have increased then the high-quality T-shirts may be more attractive than standardised ones leading to sales increasing by a higher amount and revenue therefore rising by a higher amount.</td></tr></table>	The business cycle in country Z moves into a slump	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Unemployment risesEconomic growth falls into negativeDemand for many products such as T-shirts will fallPrices may fall as demand has fallenMany businesses will fail – especially those that sell non-essential or luxury products such as high-quality T-shirts	The Government of country Z focuses on reducing unemployment	<ul style="list-style-type: none">May increase government spending to boost spending in the economyReduce tax / income tax / indirect taxes / profits taxLower interest ratesAll these changes in economic policies are designed to boost spending in country ZIf effective, then demand for many products will increase – may include demand for ST's T-shirtsBusinesses will see demand increase and the demand for specialist T-shirts may increase – leading to increase in revenue for ST	Conclusion	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Moving into a slump is likely to have a bigger effect on revenue than other changes.
