MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 60

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2021 series for most Cambridge IGCSE™, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 91 printed pages.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

Applying the Mark Scheme

- When marking a response the overall criterion to be considered should be – ‘How good is this response to this question?’
- The Level Descriptor should be used to decide the level into which the quality of the answer fits.
- Exhaustive lists of possible facts are not given in the mark scheme, as there is often a choice of factual knowledge that candidates may use.
- WHERE EXAMPLES OF RESPONSES ARE GIVEN, THESE ARE NOT PRESCRIPTIVE, BUT ARE INTENDED AS A GUIDE. It is not possible to cover every possible type of response within a levels of response mark scheme and examiners are expected to use their professional judgement at all times in ensuring that responses are placed in the correct level and given an appropriate mark within that level.
- Marking must be positive. Marks must not be deducted for inaccurate or irrelevant parts of answers. In itself, poor use of historical terminology, spelling, grammar or handwriting does not affect the mark. The overall quality of the answer to the question should be judged.
- If a candidate reaches a particular level, s/he must be rewarded with a mark within that level. It is not necessary to work through the levels.
- The full range of marks should be used. Do not be afraid to award full marks or no marks. Failure to do this will seriously affect the distribution of marks. Be prepared to reward candidates who show any level of understanding. The mark scheme starts from basic acceptable response. Where a band of marks is indicated for a level, these marks should be used with reference to the development of the answer within that level.

Question	Answer	Marks
SECTION A: CORE CONTENT
1(a)	Describe the part played by Garibaldi in Italy in the years 1848–49.	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail 1–4 e.g. ‘Garibaldi returned to Italy to join in the struggle against Austria.’ ‘He offered his services to Charles Albert but was rejected.’ ‘He led his followers into Lombardy to help the new government in Milan.’ ‘He had two victories at Luino and Morazzone.’ ‘He moved to Rome to support the Roman Republic.’ ‘He was in control of the defence of Rome against the French siege.’ ‘Garibaldi withdrew from Rome and fled north to San Marino.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
1(b)	Why was there much support for liberalism in Europe in 1848?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘There was a lot of support for liberalism because of poor government at the time and industrialisation. Industrialisation had strengthened the middle classes who believed that there needed to be improvements. The middle classes had become more important but they lacked political power which was still in the hands of the old traditional rulers. They wanted republican governments elected by some of the people and more economic and political freedoms such as freedom of the press and free speech.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘The poor quality of government at the time.’ ‘The rising middle classes wanted more influence and power.’ ‘The traditional rulers and aristocracy were still clinging on to power.’ ‘Liberal ideas were inspired by the Enlightenment.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘There was much support for it because people thought that big changes were necessary and so they turned to liberalism.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
1(c)	Who were the stronger in France in 1848, conservatives or radicals? Explain your answer.	10
	Level 5 – Explains with evaluation of ‘who were stronger’	10
	As Level 4 plus evaluation.
	Level 4 – Explanation of both sides	7–9
	A L4 answer will have a minimum of three explanations (2 on one side; 1 on the other). This will be worth a mark of 7. Fuller explanation of one issue to be given two marks. An answer which only has one explanation on one side of the argument cannot be awarded more than 8.
	Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides	5–6
	marks	4–6
	More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I think the conservatives were stronger because they defeated the revolution. After the establishment of a republic, the conservatives gradually regained control and were strong enough to put down the June Days uprising. After that there was a conservative reaction leading to the election of Louis Napoleon and then the ending of the Republic and Napoleon becoming Emperor. This shows that the old system had been restored and the conservatives victorious.’ OR e.g. ‘The radicals were stronger because they had a lot of success. In February they were able to get rid of the hated Prime Minister Guizot, overthrow Louis Phillipe and set up a republic. In Paris people flooded onto the streets demanding reforms. National Workshops were set up to provide work for the unemployed. These achievements show how powerful the radicals were.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes	2–3
	(One mark for each point) e.g. ‘The radicals were strong in Paris but had little support in the French countryside.’ ‘The conservatives defeated the June Day risings.’ ‘When Napoleon became emperor it showed that the conservatives were stronger.’ ‘The radicals were able to get rid of Louis Phillipe and the monarchy.’ ‘The radicals set up the National Workshops.’ ‘The election results of April showed that the radicals did not have a lot of support.’ ‘Napoleon’s victory in the December elections showed how weak the radicals were throughout France.’

Question	Answer	Marks
1(c)	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge e.g. 'I think the conservatives were stronger because they were the ones who had the best ideas and they won.'	1
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
2(a)	What was the Zollverein?	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail 1–4 e.g. ‘A German Customs Union.’ ‘A collection of German states to produce economic union.’ ‘It did not include Austria.’ ‘It was a customs union led by Prussia.’ ‘It managed tariffs and economic policies between a number of German states.’ ‘It simplified tariffs between many German states and encouraged them to work together economically.’ ‘By 1866 it included most German states.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question 0

Question	Answer	Marks
2(b)	Why was the Frankfurt Parliament set up in 1848?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘Risings across Germany led to demands for an all-German assembly. Representatives from across Germany met and agreed to form a pre-parliament which would prepare elections for a national constitutional assembly. Elections were then held in German states for a national Assembly which met in Frankfurt.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘The deposing of Louis Philippe in France encouraged demands for a German popular assembly.’ ‘Revolutionary risings across Germany led to demands for an all-German assembly.’ ‘It was set up to create a constitution for Germany.’ ‘It was set up to help create a united Germany.’ ‘It was set up because at that time the liberals had gained the upper hand.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘It was set up because of events that were happening at the time in Germany.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
2(c)	How far was German unification brought about by the policies of Bismarck? Explain your answer. Level 5 – Explains with evaluation of ‘how far’ 10 As Level 4 plus evaluation. Level 4 – Explanation of both sides 7–9 A L4 answer will have a minimum of three explanations (2 on one side; 1 on the other). This will be worth a mark of 7. Fuller explanation of one issue to be given two marks. An answer which only has one explanation on one side of the argument cannot be awarded more than 8. Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides 5–6 marks 4–6 More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I disagree with this. There were more important long-term causes such as German nationalism and liberalism, the long-term decline of Austria, and the economic and military strength of Prussia. Without these, unification would not have happened. Bismarck operated in a context created by these factors. For example, Prussia was economically strong before Bismarck. It led the Zollverein and its industrial production was growing much faster than Austria’s. This gave Bismarck the strength that was needed for Prussia to become the dominant state in Germany.’ OR ‘I think Bismarck’s policies were crucial in bringing about German unification. He planned it from the beginning. This can be seen by the way in which he isolated and then defeated Austria. This meant Austria was excluded from German affairs, leaving Prussia all-powerful. Bismarck then set up the North German Confederation under the control of Prussia. He then created a war with France which was the other big obstacle to unifying Germany. This led to many southern states supporting Prussia which made Germany more unified. France was then defeated and Germany was unified.’	10

Question	Answer	Marks
2(c)	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes 2–3 (One mark for each point) e.g. ‘Austria was in long-term decline.’ ‘Prussia was the strongest state in Germany.’ ‘Prussia was already the leading state in Germany as can be seen by its leadership of the Zollverein.’ ‘German liberals had been campaigning for a united Germany for years.’ ‘German nationalism had been growing for years across Germany.’ ‘The 1848 revolutions showed that there was a lot of support for a united Germany.’ ‘Bismarck engineered the isolation and defeat of Austria.’ ‘Bismarck caused the war with France to make the southern states support him and create a unified Germany.’ ‘Bismarck engineered war with France to weaken France and get it out of the way. Germany could then be unified.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge 1 e.g. ‘I think Bismarck was very important to the unification of Germany. Without his drive, it would not have happened.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question 0

Question	Answer	Marks
3(a)	Describe the events between 1854 and 1861 known as ‘Bleeding Kansas’.	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail e.g. ‘A period of violence during the settling of the Kansas territory.’ ‘In 1854 the Kansas-Nebraska Act created the new territories of Kansas and Nebraska.’ ‘Immigrants (‘border ruffians’) from Missouri flocked into Kansas to support pro-slavery factions in elections.’ ‘Immigrants from the North flocked into Kansas to support ‘Free-Soilers’ in elections.’ ‘Fighting broke out between pro-slavery settlers and anti-slavery settlers.’ ‘John Brown and his followers murdered pro-slavers and attempted to start a slave rebellion.’ ‘By 1855 two rival governments were set up in Kansas.’ ‘In 1856 President Pierce sent US troops to Topeka.’ ‘Pitch battles were fought in 1856 between the two sides.’ ‘The new territorial governor, John W Geary, brought some peace to the situation after 1856.’ ‘Kansas was admitted to the Union as a free state in 1861.’	1–4
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
3(b)	Why was the Ku Klux Klan founded soon after the Civil War ended?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘The Ku Klux Klan was founded to restore white supremacy in the South. This had been weakened by emancipation, the defeat of the South in the Civil War and Reconstruction. Its aim was to use intimidation and murder to drive black Americans out of politics and to stop people supporting the Republicans. It aimed at destroying Republican administrations that had been set up in the South and to restore the rights of white Americans, their control of the black labour force and to restore racial subordination in all aspects of Southern life.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘It was formed to oppose Reconstruction.’ ‘It was founded to restore white supremacy.’ ‘It was founded to restore law and order.’ ‘It was formed to intimidate black Americans to stop them from voting.’ ‘It was formed to stop black Americans becoming politically active.’ ‘It aimed at overthrowing Republican state governments in the South.’ ‘It tried to stop people voting Republican.’ ‘It was founded to support the Democratic party.’ ‘It was founded to reverse the changes that Reconstruction was introducing.’ ‘It was founded to restore the control of white Americans and destroy the advances made by black Americans in the South.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘It was founded because of the situation in America after the end of the Civil War. Some people thought that the situation made the KKK necessary.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

3(c)	How far was Lincoln to blame for the fact that he was hated and feared in the South? Explain your answer. Level 5 – Explains with evaluation of ‘how far’ 10 As Level 4 plus evaluation. Level 4 – Explanation of both sides 7–9 A L4 answer will have a minimum of three explanations (2 on one side; 1 on the other). This will be worth a mark of 7. Fuller explanation of one issue to be given two marks. An answer which only has one explanation on one side of the argument cannot be awarded more than 8. Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides 5–6 marks 4–6 More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I think this was Lincoln’s fault. The main reason that he was hated and feared in the South was his opposition to slavery which he made quite clear. For example, he opposed the creation of new slave states. It is not surprising that the South regarded him as an abolitionist and feared him. Slavery was crucial to the economy and way of life of the South, and people in the South resented any hint that the North would interfere with it. This can be seen by the fact that in the presidential elections Lincoln did not win a single state in the South, and soon after his victory southern states began to secede from the Union.’ OR ‘This was not Lincoln’s fault and there was not much he could have done about it. He did his best not to upset the South over slavery, for example, he often promised to enforce fugitive slave laws as president. In his speech when he became president, he promised not to interfere with slavery and he did not think that the federal government could abolish slavery in states where it already existed. In fact, with Lincoln as president, slavery in the South would have probably been secure, so it was not his fault that the South feared him.’	10

Question	Answer	Marks
3(c)	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes 2–3 (One mark for each point) e.g. ‘He opposed new slave states.’ ‘He thought that slavery was wrong.’ ‘He had ended slavery in Columbia in 1862.’ ‘He opposed the Dred Scott judgement.’ ‘He made his opposition to slavery clear in the debates with Douglas.’ ‘His determination to save the Union meant that he was willing to fight the South in a bloody civil war.’ ‘Before the Civil War, he was not an abolitionist.’ ‘He opposed the federal government abolishing slavery in states where it already existed.’ ‘He issued the Emancipation Proclamation in 1863.’ ‘The Union army liberated slaves as it advanced.’ ‘The importance of slavery to white Americans in the South meant that any hint that he disliked slavery would put the South against him.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge 1 e.g. ‘I think it was Lincoln’s fault. His views were not liked in the South and so they were bound to hate him.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question 0

Question	Answer	Marks
4(a)	What was the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia in July 1914?	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail 1–4 e.g. ‘This was a series of demands made to Serbia because of Serbia’s involvement in the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria.’ ‘It was used by Austria to cause a war with Serbia.’ ‘It demanded that Serbia condemn propaganda against Austria.’ ‘It gave Serbia just 48 hours to agree to a series of demands.’ ‘It demanded that Serbia allow Austrian officials into its country to suppress anti-Austrian organisations or individuals.’ ‘Serbia should arrest and put on trial those involved in the assassination.’ ‘It was a series of demands that Serbia could not really agree to without being humiliated.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question 0

Question	Answer	Marks
4(b)	Why did Britain go to war in August 1914?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘I think the main reason was Britain was afraid that Germany was going to invade France. The Entente Cordiale had brought Britain and France closer and in 1911, during the Agadir Crisis, Britain had promised to help France if it was invaded by Germany. Britain was very worried by the idea of Germany quickly overrunning France as it had done in 1870. Germany controlling France and the English Channel would be a great threat to Britain. So Britain went to war to defend France.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘This was because Germany refused to remove its troops from Belgium.’ ‘This was because Germany had invaded Belgium.’ ‘Germany was clearly threatening France and so Britain had to go to war.’ ‘Tensions between Germany and Britain had been growing for years and German aggressiveness in Belgium was the crucial trigger for Britain to declare war on Germany.’ ‘Many people in Britain felt that they could not leave Belgium fighting Germany alone.’ ‘The Treaty of London said that Britain had to safeguard Belgium’s neutrality.’ ‘Britain did not want Germany to grow any more powerful.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘Britain went to war because it had no choice. If it did not, then the situation would get worse.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
4(c)	Who was more to blame for the outbreak of war in 1914, Germany or Russia? Explain your answer.	10
	Level 5 – Explains with evaluation of ‘who was more to blame’ As Level 4 plus evaluation.
	Level 4 – Explanation of both sides A L4 answer will have a minimum of three explanations (2 on one side; 1 on the other). This will be worth a mark of 7. Fuller explanation of one issue to be given two marks. An answer which only has one explanation on one side of the argument cannot be awarded more than 8.
	Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides marks More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I think Germany was more to blame. It had made the situation in Europe very tense by its massive increase in armaments and its rivalry with Britain. Giving a ‘blank cheque’ to Austria was disastrous because it encouraged Austria to force a war with Serbia which started the events leading to a major European war. Without Germany’s support, Austria would not have gone so far as the ultimatum to Serbia. Germany’s support for Austria also alarmed Russia which then mobilised.’ OR e.g. ‘I think Russia was to blame. Its support for Serbia encouraged the Serbs to cause trouble for Austria. It is also important to remember that Russia mobilised first. This is what turned a conflict between Austria and Serbia into a major European war. Once Russia had mobilised, Germany had to act fast before it was surrounded from the East and the West.’

Question	Answer	Marks
4(c)	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes 2–3 (One mark for each point) e.g. ‘Germany encouraged Austria to invade Serbia through its blank cheque.’ ‘Russia did not want a war. It was not strong enough or ready for a war.’ ‘Germany’s invasion of Belgium dragged Britain in and turned it into a major conflict.’ ‘Russia was to blame. It mobilised very quickly and before a war was inevitable.’ ‘Germany’s support for Austria alarmed Russia and made it mobilise.’ ‘Russia mobilised very early and this frightened Germany into declaring war on Russia and France.’ ‘Germany was to blame because the Kaiser was determined that Germany would become the major power in Europe.’ ‘The Schlieffen Plan shows that Germany had planned a major European war.’ ‘Germany knew Russia would support Serbia if it was attacked by Austria, but it still took the risk.’ ‘Russia turned the squabble between Austria and Serbia into a European war by encouraging Serbia and by mobilising.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge 1 e.g. ‘I think they were both to blame. They both did things that made the war more likely.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question 0

5(a)	Describe how the League dealt with the dispute over the Aaland (Aland) Islands.	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail e.g. ‘The League rejected Finland’s claim that the issue of the Aaland Islands was outside the League’s area of responsibility.’ ‘The League investigated the claims of Finland and Sweden.’ ‘The League supported the claims of Finland to the islands.’ ‘The League also built in some safeguards, e.g. Finland could not fortify the islands in any way.’	1–4
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

Question	Answer	Marks
5(b)	Why were some major powers not members of the League?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘One reason for this was because they did not want to become a member. The USA decided not to join. It was worried that it would take away some of the country’s independence and its right to make its own decisions in foreign policy. It was also worried that the League would drag it into European wars and disputes just as it had been in the First World War. Hitler did not want Germany’s actions to be restricted by the League, especially since he wanted to destroy the Treaty of Versailles, and so he took Germany out of the League.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘Some countries like the USA and Nazi Germany did not want to be members.’ ‘Some countries such as Germany were not allowed to join at the start of the League of Nations.’ ‘Japan left the League when it criticised its actions in Manchuria.’ ‘The Soviet Union was not allowed to join at first for ideological reasons – it was communist.’ ‘The Soviet Union did not want to join at first because members such as Britain and France had supported the counter-revolutionaries in Russia during the Civil War.’ ‘Italy left when the League imposed sanctions on it because of its invasion of Abyssinia.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘This was because they did not want to join because they disagreed with it.’
	Level 0 – No evidence submitted or response does not address the question	0

5(c)	‘Britain was responsible for the failure of the League in the 1930s.’ How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.	10
	Level 5 – Explains with evaluation of ‘how far’ As Level 4 plus evaluation.	10
	Level 4 – Explanation of both sides A L4 answer will have a minimum of three explanations (2 on one side; 1 on the other). This will be worth a mark of 7. Fuller explanation of one issue to be given two marks. An answer which only has one explanation on one side of the argument cannot be awarded more than 8.	7–9
	Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I do not agree with this. I think the League had an impossible job to do, especially because of the Depression. This led to extremists like Hitler coming to power around the world. These leaders were nationalists and had aggressive foreign policies such as Italy in Abyssinia, Japan in Manchuria and Germany across Europe. The Depression also made the members of the League more reluctant to use economic sanctions because they wanted to keep all the trade they could. So at the moment when the League’s action was needed most, the power of the League declined.’ OR e.g. ‘I agree with this statement. Britain was a leading member of the League and yet it really provided no proper leadership for the League. In fact, in many areas such as dealing with Germany’s aggression, Britain ignored the League and dealt with Germany directly. It appeased Germany and let it get away with taking over country after country. It also went behind the League’s back and came up with a secret deal with France, the Hoare-Laval Pact, to appease Italy. Britain did not want to upset Mussolini and was worried about driving him into the arms of Hitler. This is why Britain let the League down badly.’	5–6 4–6

Question	Answer	Marks
5(c)	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes 2–3 (One mark for each point) e.g. ‘The Depression made the job of the League much harder.’ ‘Aggressive foreign policies of countries like Japan made the task of the League much harder.’ ‘Many members of the League were to blame. This can be seen with the failure of the Disarmament Conference.’ ‘France was just as much to blame. For example, it was reluctant to stand up to Italy.’ ‘Without a permanent army, the League never had a chance of success.’ ‘The USA was not a member of the League and this seriously weakened it in the 1930s.’ ‘Britain was one of the two leading countries in the League and so must have a lot of the responsibility.’ ‘Britain often worked outside the League. This damaged its international standing.’ ‘Britain deceived the League through the Hoare-Laval Pact.’ ‘Britain was reluctant to act against Japan because it had colonies in the Far East.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge 1 e.g. ‘I do not agree with this. I think lots of countries were to blame for the failure of the League.’

6(a)	Describe the reactions of Britain and France to the remilitarisation of the Rhineland in 1936.	4
	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail 1–4 e.g. ‘Many in Britain thought that Germany had a right to do what it wanted in the Rhineland.’ ‘Britain and France did not want to risk a war over territory that already belonged to Germany.’ ‘Hitler promised a non-aggression pact and so Britain and France did nothing.’ ‘France had great economic problems at the time and could not afford to do anything.’ ‘Public opinion in France was strongly against the French government doing anything.’ ‘At first, France hinted at taking military action but then did nothing.’ ‘Britain did not have the military resources to do anything and so did nothing.’

Question	Answer	Marks
6(b)	Why were the failures of the League of Nations in the 1930s important to Hitler?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘They were important to Hitler because they showed him that the League would not stand up to countries who had aggressive foreign policies. This was clear when Japan got away with invading Manchuria. This became even clearer with Italy’s invasion of Abyssinia which was much closer to Europe. The League showed it was incapable of taking effective action with each country more concerned about its own national interests than what was best internationally. Hitler decided that if he went on to destroy the Treaty of Versailles, the League would not take any action against him.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘The League had shown that it could not take any meaningful action against aggressors.’ ‘Both Japan and Italy had got away with invading other countries. This was an important lesson for Hitler.’ ‘The League showed that individual members put themselves first and so the League could not agree on any strong action.’
	Level 1 – General answer lacking specific contextual knowledge	1
	e.g. ‘They showed that the League was a failure and he did not have to worry about it.’

7(b)	Why did the USSR and the West disagree about what to do with Germany after the end of the Second World War?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason (Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘They disagreed because the USSR was worried about being attacked again by a revived and strong Germany. Russia had been attacked by Germany and an enormous amount of damage had been done there. Stalin thought that the Soviet Union was under threat from the West and this is why he developed a series of communist states in Eastern Europe as a barrier against the West. If Germany became industrially and militarily strong again, it could threaten the Soviet Union. This is why he wanted to strip Germany of its industry so that it could not recover.’	4–5

The Marshall Plan was really to help the USA. The idea behind lending European countries enormous sums of money was that as their economies recovered, they would buy goods from the USA. This would help US industry and create jobs in the USA because there would be a great demand for US exports. If Western Europe remained poor, it would not be able to trade with the US much.' OR e.g. 'I disagree with this. I think the Marshall Plan was all about protecting Western Europe from the spread of communism. Truman was worried that if Western Europe remained poor, there might be uprisings and support for communism. He was worried that communism might spread across Western Europe. The way to stop this was to help Western Europe recover economically. If people there had jobs and were gradually feeling richer, they would have no reason to support communism.'

8(b)	Why was the Iran-Iraq War important to the West?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘The Iran-Iraq War was important to the West because it did not want Iran or Iraq to become dominant in the Middle East. Neither of these two countries was particularly friendly with the West and so they did not want either of them to be all-powerful. For example, if Iran had won it could have put an Islamic revolutionary government into Baghdad. This would have been disastrous for the West and would have threatened the West’s allies in the region such as Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. This would have made the whole area unstable and could have left the West without any allies there. This is why the West did give Iraq arms and money – to stop Iran winning the war.’

	Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I do not think this was very surprising. The Shah had become very unpopular because of his repressive rule. He used secret police and informers and his opponents were tortured and executed. The leading enemy of the Shah was Ayatollah Khomeini, a Muslim cleric, who was in exile. At this stage, Khomeini focused on the grievances of the people such as the repressive rule and the great inequalities of wealth, but he really aimed at setting up an Islamic republic. When he returned to the country, a popular revolution overthrew the Shah and in 1979 a referendum was held to turn the country into an Islamic republic. This is not surprising because it is what Khomeini had been planning all the time.’ OR e.g. ‘I think this was surprising. Most of the opposition to the rule of the Shah had built up over his repressive policies that had little to do with religion. His rich life style was compared with the poverty of many Iranians and he spent a lot of the country’s wealth on weapons. This all led to massive demonstrations in Iran. Although Khomeini was an important figurehead, he was in exile and did not return to Iran until after the Shah and his family had fled. Many of the protests were about issues that had little to do with religion and most people were not demonstrating for an Islamic republic. So it was surprising when Khomeini set one up in 1979.’	5–6 4–6

	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘Tanks were important in the war because they were an answer to the most difficult problem in fighting trench warfare. Millions of men in the infantry were killed trying to attack across No Man’s Land. Because of the barbed wire and the machine gun-posts, they were easy to mow down. The Germans also hoped that a German offensive on Verdun would force the French and the British to send troops there to help defend it and that this would weaken them in other areas of the fighting on the Western Front. However, the French fought bravely and defended Verdun successfully. This was an enormous help to French morale. It also showed how difficult it was to attack heavily fortified places and the Germans did not launch another major attack until 1918.’ OR e.g. ‘I disagree. The Battle of the Somme was more important. It involved a huge offensive by the British at the River Somme and was meant to defeat the Germans and end the war. 	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘The Home Fronts were crucial because this is where the war could have been won or lost. One example of this is the production of armaments for the armies to keep fighting. Rifles, machine guns, aeroplanes, artillery, munitions and tanks all had to be produced for the armies. Without the civilian workers producing all of this, the armies would have been powerless. Many of the people working in the factories producing all of this were women. One of the main reasons why Germany lost the war was because its factories were struggling to produce all the weapons and equipment its army needed, whereas in Britain production was increasing.’

	Level 3 – One-sided explanation OR one explanation of both sides marks More detailed explanation of one issue to be given two marks. e.g. ‘I do not think that the failure of the Gallipoli campaign was all that important. This is because its purpose was to help Russia in the war by defeating Turkey. This would mean Russia had one less country to fight on the Eastern Front. Not enough troops were sent for the attack and they ended up being stuck on the beaches under heavy fire. In the end, they were withdrawn in 1916. The reason this did not matter that much was that in the next year Russia signed an armistice and then withdrew from the war. This was because of the revolution in Russia and so the Gallipoli campaign would not have made much difference.’ OR e.g. ‘The failure of the Gallipoli campaign was important. By 1915 the fighting on the Western Front was at a stalemate and it was clear that neither side was going to make a breakthrough. The idea behind the invasion of Gallipoli was to win the war on the Eastern Front where Russia was fighting Turkey. However, it was a disaster. Overall, the fire was important because it let him strengthen his position and make the communists weaker.’ OR e.g. ‘I disagree with this. 	Level 1 – One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail 1–4 e.g. ‘This war led to Bloody Sunday where an end to the war was one of the demands.’ ‘It was one of the causes of the 1905 revolution.’ ‘It increased criticism of the Tsar’s rule of Russia.’ ‘Soldiers returning from the war protested.’ ‘There were naval mutinies at Sevastopol and aboard the battleship Potemkin .’ ‘It led to reforms of the Russian army.’ ‘It led to the rise of Japan as a great power.’ ‘It was a great blow to Russian pride and prestige.’

Question	Answer	Marks
13(b)	Why was Bloody Sunday important?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘In January 1905, Father Gapon led protestors in a march to present a petition for reforms to the Tsar. But before they could get to the Winter Palace they were fired on by soldiers. Hundreds of people were killed and many more injured. This sent shocks through Russia. People had believed that the Tsar was their ‘father’ and would look after them. These killings destroyed this belief and from then on things were never the same. Although the Tsar survived in 1905, he never really recovered and Bloody Sunday can be seen as the first important event that led to his downfall in 1917.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘It was important because it started the 1905 revolution.’ ‘Hundreds of people were killed by the Tsar’s soldiers and many more wounded.’ ‘It led to the mutiny on the battleship Potemkin .’ ‘It led to people no longer trusting the Tsar.’ ‘It was the first step to the eventual downfall of the Tsar.’

He stayed in power by a mixture of reform and repression. The Tsar issued the October Manifesto which promised some reforms such as a Duma. This satisfied quite a lot of people. Stolypin also helped the Tsar survive by passing reforms. The peasants were allowed to leave communes and many bought their own farms. This helped to keep them quiet. He also helped the Tsar survive by dealing ruthlessly with any trouble. He introduced martial law to deal with disorder and terrorism. This kept the Tsar firmly in control of the country.’ OR e.g. ‘Yes, I am very surprised. Many of the reforms the Tsar passed, he soon went back on. The Duma was not the introduction of democracy. It was packed with Tsarists and the Tsar simply dissolved it whenever he wanted to. The Fundamental Laws gave him back a lot of his power and the Okhrana (the secret police) were brutal and were hated. All of this made the Tsar unpopular and it is surprising that he stayed in power until 1917. This is especially because he was weakened by Russia’s disastrous entry into the First World War. This soon led to food shortages. So I am surprised he survived until 1917.’	10

It caused a lot of disruption with Kulaks opposing the policy. They killed livestock and destroyed their crops. This led to the amount of grain being produced going down. Stalin thought that Kulaks were hiding grain; he would not accept that less was being produced. The result was famine that killed millions of people, especially in Ukraine.’ OR e.g. ‘Russian agriculture was backward, was not producing the amount of food needed and had to be reformed. Collectivisation was needed to increase production. The fact that it did not work well at the beginning was not the fault of collectivisation but the fault of Kulaks who opposed the policy. They burned crops, killed millions of their animals and damaged machinery. This caused less food to be produced and the result was famine. By the late 1930s, most farms were collectivised, new machinery was being used and the production of food did go up. Overall, it did more good than harm.’	5–6 4–6

They did not have labour-saving devices and had to bring up children and work hard on the farm. They did not have much money and lived hard lives just as in the past. Small farmers and labourers in rural areas did not benefit from the boom in the 1920s and lived much poorer lives than workers in the cities where there were plenty of well-paid jobs.' OR e.g. 'I agree with this. The right of workers to join trade unions was defended and pensions for elderly were introduced as well as insurance against unemployment.’ OR e.g. ‘I do not agree with this at all. The peasants supported Mao and the Communists because they treated the peasants much better than the Nationalists. Mao insisted that the Communists lived with the peasants and helped them. 	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘China was able to achieve economic growth after a new ten-year plan for rapid growth was devised in 1978. This allowed China to follow a new direction, closer to a Western-style economy. Foreign trade resumed, along with borrowing from foreign investors in an effort to generate capital. Agriculture also benefited economically from the introduction of greater resources following on from a sharp increase in the prices paid for farm goods and products from 1979. There was a change from collective to family farming and greater choice for peasants in what was grown, with impressive harvests in the early 1980s after excellent weather. I think the National Party won because of its own policies and ideas. It promised a white South Africa under Afrikaner rule. This would involve moving black South Africans to the reserves. This pleased Afrikaners, who made up the majority of white South Africans and who believed in white supremacy and were worried about their culture being overwhelmed by black South Africans. They also promised white industrialists lots of cheap black labour which would be allowed to leave the reserves to work in the cities. All of this appealed to the Afrikaners.’ OR e.g. ‘I agree with this. The United Party which was the party in power was very unpopular, especially with Afrikaners. This was because after the war the South African economy was in a mess and white workers found that when they returned from the war, their jobs had been taken by black South Africans. They were also worried by all the black protests and strikes and feared black South Africans taking over. They blamed this on Smuts and his government which they thought did not seem able to keep black South Africans under control.’	10

20(b)	Why was there opposition to apartheid from outside South Africa?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason	4–5
	(Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘This happened because more and more nations in Africa were winning their independence from the colonial rule of whites. As black Africans took over in countries near South Africa like Angola, Mozambique and Zimbabwe, they were hostile to South Africa and apartheid. South Africa had been able to depend on these ‘buffer states’ but not after the 1970s and 1980s. These countries let organisations like the ANC, liberation fighters from Namibia and even soldiers from Cuba set up camps from which they could attack South Africa.’
	Level 2 – Identifies AND/OR describes reasons	2–3
	(One mark for each identification/description) e.g. ‘This was because more African countries were being ruled by black governments who were against apartheid.’ ‘The United Nations had many countries with black governments and they were against apartheid, turning the UN against it.’ ‘Many ordinary people in countries like Britain were horrified by the injustices of apartheid.’ ‘Events like Sharpeville turned more people outside South Africa against apartheid.’

When other events like Sharpeville had happened in the past, the police had quickly regained control but after Soweto there was almost never-ending unrest and violence and the police never really got the townships under control again. From this moment, opposition to apartheid grew and exploded in the 1980s. The townships became hotbeds of opposition and hid ANC guerrillas. The Soweto Uprising started all this.' OR e.g. 'No, I do not think it was a turning point. There had been riots and demonstrations long before this and this was just one of many. It is important to remember that it was still a long time before apartheid and minority rule would be ended at the end of the 1980s and in the early 1990s. What was happening in South Africa was a gradual declining of apartheid that had been going on for a long time. Soweto was just a step in that process.'

21(b)	Why were the consequences of the Yom Kippur War of 1973 important?	6
	Level 4 – Explains TWO reasons	6
	Level 3 – Explains ONE reason (Four marks for one explanation, five marks for full explanation) e.g. ‘The consequences were important because the war showed how powerful a weapon the Arab states had over the US and the West. During the war, the Arab states had announced an embargo on oil supplies to the US and the West. Although the war ended shortly afterwards, this threat showed everyone what a powerful weapon the oil states had over the West. The Arab states produced over a third of the world’s oil and they could cripple the West’s economies by reducing supply.’	4–5

Israel had been worried about possible attacks by the Arab countries and so struck first. By destroying so much of the Arab armed forces and winning more land, Israel was much more secure. Winning the Golan Heights improved Israel’s defences against Syria and its defences in other areas were improved by driving Egypt back across the Sinai. At the end of the war, the Arab states were in no position to threaten Israel.’ OR e.g. ‘The Six-Day War actually increased Israel’s problems. The military victory would not ensure Israel’s safety forever. Only a diplomatic settlement would do that. Its conquests of Gaza, the West Bank, East Jerusalem and the Golan Heights meant that many Palestinian Arabs were now living under Israeli control. This would cause Israel problems in the future as would Arab claims that Israel had no right to the conquered territory.’	5–6 4–6

Israel has built Jewish settlements on land it occupied after the Six-Day War. This includes the West Bank and East Jerusalem as well as the Golan Heights. This has caused enormous problems because Israel regards them as legal while most countries as well as the UN and Palestinians regard them as illegal. They have been an obstacle to peace because even the US has sometimes stated that withdrawal from most settlements is necessary for a peace agreement. Israel refuses to accept that.’ OR e.g. ‘The PLO campaigned and fought for a Palestinian state for many years. Its use of guerrilla, and even terrorist, tactics lost the cause support and made peace more difficult. Some Israelis have claimed that the creation of a Palestinian state has created a breeding ground for organisations like Hamas and so this has made peace more difficult. However, many people, even at times the USA, argued that there would no peace without the question of a Palestinian state being settled.’
