MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2010 question paper for the guidance of teachers

0470 HISTORY

0470/13

Paper 1, maximum raw mark 60

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

- CIE will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

CIE is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2010 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

APPLICATION OF THE MARK SCHEME

1 Use of the Mark Scheme

- 1.1 It is not possible to cover every possible type of response within a levels of response mark scheme and examiners are expected to use their professional judgement at all times in ensuring that responses are placed in the correct levels and given an appropriate mark within that level.
- 1.2 Marking must be positive. Marks must not be deducted for inaccurate or irrelevant answers. Half- marks must not be used.
- The full range of marks should be used. Do not be afraid to award full marks or no marks. Failure to do this will seriously affect the distribution of marks. Be prepared to reward candidates who show any level of understanding. The mark scheme starts from basic acceptable response.
- 1.4 Be consistent from script to script and from batch to batch.
- 1.5 Indicate that all answers have been seen.
- 1.6 Do not transfer marks from one part of a question to another.
- 1.7 If a candidate reaches a particular level s/he must be rewarded with a mark within that level. It is not necessary to work through the levels.
Exhaustive lists of possible facts are not given in the mark scheme, as there is often a choice of factual knowledge that candidates may use.
- 1.9 WHERE EXAMPLES OF RESPONSES ARE GIVEN, THESE ARE NOT PRESCRIPTIVE, BUT ARE INTENDED AS A GUIDE.
- 1.10 Where a band of marks is indicated for a level these marks should be used with reference to the development of the answer within that level.

2 Marking

- 2.1 All marking should be in red.
- 2.2 The level, and mark awarded for each part question, MUST be shown clearly in the margin of the script towards the end of an answer, e.g. L3/8.
- 2.3 At the end of each question the total mark achieved by the candidate for that question MUST be indicated in a circle.
- 2.4 The total mark for each question should be transferred to the front page of the script. The marks for the three questions should be totalled and indicated. The final total for the script should then be circled.
- 2.6 It is not necessary to tick the body of an answer and examiners should refrain from doing so.
- 2.7 Examiners must indicate, in the body of the response, where a level has been achieved and, where appropriate, marks are gained.

'The main effect of the war from 1894 was to further strengthen Japan as a Far Eastern power and it highlighted the success of the modernisation programme under the Meiji Emperor. 'The Kaiser, in 1911, again tried to break the Entente Cordiale by sending a gunboat to Agadir. Britain believed he was trying to set up a naval base in Morocco and saw this as a threat. Again Germany backed down to avoid war and yet again he blamed Britain. He was unlikely to back down again.'

 'The Balkans crises were the main cause of war.'
 'Germany' aggressive attitude was responsible for war.'
 'The growth of Serbia was responsible.'

Level 3 Explains agreement OR disagreement [3–5]

e.g. 'Following the assassination at Sarajevo of the heir to the A-H throne, Austria declared war on Serbia despite the Serbs not wanting war. This brought Russia into conflict as it supported the Serbs and was determined not to back down this time. Germany supported its ally Austria-Hungary by declaring war on Russia and then France. This was the immediate cause of war.'

OR

'The Alliance system was a major cause of war as it created two armed camps – The Triple Alliance against the Triple Entente. A dispute between one of the members of each camp could well involve other members. An example was in Bosnia where Russia was furious at the actions of Austria but backed down when Germany supported Austria. This humiliated Russia who were not likely to back down again and who moved closer to Britain and France. After the assassination Germany supported Austria against the Serbs.'

'The Kaiser adopted a more aggressive approach to the rest of the world. He ended friendly relations with Russia and as a result other countries saw Germany as a threat.'

'There was intense rivalry in the Balkans where the Balkan League had been formed, with Serbia emerging as the strongest Balkan state. This alarmed Austria who was determined to crush the Serbians who were supported by Russia. Austria was supported by Germany.'

'He wanted to split Germany into a number of small states. If not, Germany should lose the Rhineland, Saarland, Upper Silesia, Danzig and East Prussia.'

(b) Why was it difficult to make a peace settlement that would please everyone?

Clemenceau wanted France to be secure from future German attacks. This meant weakening Germany and reducing its military strength. The French wanted revenge on Germany for the destruction the war had caused. Lloyd George wanted to protect British interests but was aware that treating Germany too harshly would store up trouble for the future.'

'Lloyd George realised what was required if Germany was not to cause trouble but he had, however, promised the British people that he would 'squeeze the German lemon until the pips squeaked.'

'Neither Britain nor the USA shared France's enthusiasm for punishing Germany, nor did they want to provide guarantees for French security in the future.'

'Lloyd George was determined to preserve British naval power but this went against Wilson and his Fourteen Points.'

'Wilson wanted future world peace and more importantly self-determination. He had to place his hopes in the League of Nations.'

(c) Which was the more important reason for Germany's dissatisfaction with the Treaty – the imposing of reparations or the war guilt clause? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'They were both important.'

Level 2 Describes reparations and/or war guilt clause [2–3]

e.g. 'Reparations was the amount of money Germany had to pay for the damage it had caused.'

'Under the war guilt clause Germany had to accept blame for the war.'

Level 3 Explains reparations OR war guilt clause [3–5]

e.g. 'As Germany had accepted the blame for the war, the Allies could demand payment for all the damage caused. Germany was required to pay reparations to the Allies of £6600 million. The German economy was already in tatters. People had very little food. They feared reparations would cripple them. They also thought the total was too much as the Treaty had also taken away some of its main manufacturing areas, making it more difficult to make the payments. It was argued that the Kaiser was responsible, but that as he was no longer in power the ordinary people should not be punished. Many thought it was an attempt to bankrupt Germany.'

OR

'The war guilt clause forced Germany to accept full responsibility for the war. Germany thought that the 'war guilt' clause was particularly unfair as they thought the blame should be shared. They were not the only ones to blame. They had no choice but to accept. Because they were forced to accept blame they had to pay for all the damage.'

Level 4 Explains reparations AND war guilt clause [5–7]

Both sides of Level 3.

Level 5 Explains with evaluation of 'more important' [7–8]

The Council had a range of powers including moral condemnation, economic and financial sanctions and military force. It met around five times a year and in cases of emergency.'

'This was a key part of the League's role of settling disputes peacefully. It gave decisions on border disputes, and legal advice to the Assembly or Council. It did not have the power to enforce its rulings.'

Level 1 General answer [1]

'The League was ignored when it requested Poland to withdraw from Vilna. Poland refused and remained in Vilna. The League took no action.'
'The League failed over Manchuria where it took twelve months for the Lytton Report and the League did nothing more than condemn Japan's actions. When the Report was accepted Japan left the League. This undermined the League thus reducing its power.'
'The League imposed sanctions on Italy after they invaded Abyssinia but these were ineffective as they did not include oil. Britain was looking after its own needs rather than those of the League. Behind the scenes the Hoare-Laval Plan showed that Britain and France were not prepared to take action, which undermined the League.'
'The Great Powers continued to make agreements outside the League such as the Washington Naval Agreement (1922) and Locarno. The League failed on disarmament when the Disarmament Conference of 1932-3 collapsed and this led directly to Germany leaving the League.'

'American tactics were wrong for the jungle.'
'Change of government policy, e.g. vietnamisation.'
'It was the use of guerrilla warfare.'

(Allow description of Tet Offensive here.)

Level 3 Explains agreement OR disagreement [3–5]

e.g. 'The policy of search and destroy, bombing and the use of chemical weapons failed and Johnson changed the policy after the Tet Offensive as he realised the war could not be won militarily.'

'The Tet Offensive (1968) proved to be a turning point. It highlighted the cost of war. There were nearly 500,000 troops in Vietnam and America was spending between $20 and $30 billion a year, yet little impression was being made and the Vietcong were able to launch major offensives like this and take the US forces completely by surprise. In 1967 'Life Magazine' calculated it cost $400,000 for each Vietcong guerrilla killed. This huge spending meant cutbacks in spending on social reform. In addition, the American media started to turn and began to ask difficult questions.'

OR

'The media had a significant impact. This was the first televised war and American people were horrified at the barbaric nature of American attacks, an example being My Lai. Coverage showed children being burned by napalm and people in villages massacred. American people were sickened by these atrocities and public opinion was changing.'

'Public opinion was changing. The war was very costly in terms of military supplies and yet the Vietcong could still attack Saigon.'

'As more and more soldiers returned in body bags or were considered to be on drugs, public opinion turned. It led to open criticism of Johnson – "Hey, Hey, LBJ, how many kids did you kill today".'

e.g. 'They used force.'
'They used the military.'

Level 2 Describes events [2–5]

(One mark for relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'Khrushchev sent in tanks but they were withdrawn after a week. On 4th November 200 000 Soviet troops and 2,500 tanks arrived in Budapest.'
'After two weeks of bitter street fighting it is thought that 27 000 Hungarians had died and Soviet control was restored. Modern-day estimates suggest around 4000 Hungarians were killed.'
'Hard-line Soviet control was re-established under Kádár and Nagy was captured and hanged (1958).'
'It prevented Hungary leaving the Warsaw Pact.'
'The Soviet Union was not prepared to let go of countries within its sphere of influence.'

(b) Why was the Soviet Union worried by developments in Czechoslovakia in 1968?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'It was threatened.'

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'Reforms were threatening Soviet control.'
'If freedom granted for one, others would follow.'
'Actions were against the Brezhnev Doctrine.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'Brezhnev was the new Soviet leader and he was just as determined as previous leaders to maintain Soviet control of Eastern Europe and he felt this control was being threatened.'
'Dubcek was appointed to lead the country. He wanted to modernise communism, talking about 'socialism with a human face'. These reforms were known as the 'Prague Spring'. The Soviets saw them as a threat.'

- (c) 'The inspiration provided by Solidarity was more important in bringing about the collapse of Communism in Eastern Europe than the policies of Gorbachev.' How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'Gorbachev was responsible because he was in power.'

Level 2 Identifies reasons [2–3]

e.g. 'The economy of the Soviet Union was failing.'
 'Gorbachev introduced reforms.'
 'He made links with the West.'
 'Communist satellites were no longer dominated.'
 'He introduced 'perestroika' and 'glasnost'.
 'Solidarity was responsible more than Gorbachev.'

Level 3 Explains the inspiration of Solidarity OR the policies of Gorbachev [3–5]

e.g. 'The Solidarity movement showed that if people stood together against oppression it was difficult to deal with. In the 1989 elections in Poland anti-communist candidates won a striking victory. This sparked peaceful anti-communist revolutions in Hungary, East Germany and Czechoslovakia.'
 'The Solidarity movement was important because it highlighted the failure of Communism to provide good living standards and this undermined Communism's claim to be a system which benefited ordinary people. It highlighted inefficiency and corruption and showed that a Communist government could be resisted.'

OR

'Gorbachev proposed many changes that the hard-line communists found difficult to accept. He was unpopular because his economic reforms did not work as they expected too much too quickly. Corruption ran too deeply for the changes to happen. His withdrawal of Red Army support for other communist countries resulted in, one by one, the communist governments coming to an end.'

'Gorbachev proposed that the Soviet economy should be improved by "perestroika" – restructuring, including capitalist practices. There should be more "glasnost" – openness to restoring faith in government and end corruption. People who criticised the government should no longer be persecuted. These proposals were introduced too quickly.'

'Gorbachev realised he could not afford the arms race on which large sums of money were being spent at the expense of many citizens living in poverty. He signed treaties with the USA which effectively ended the Cold War and the need to support its satellites. Within months the communists were ousted from power in places such as Poland, Hungary and East Germany as the countries realised the tanks would not be sent in.'

SECTION B: DEPTH STUDIES

9 (a) What methods did the Nazis use to gain support in elections before 1933?

Level 1 General answer [1–2]

e.g. 'They did not give detail.'

Level 2 Describes methods [2–5]

(One mark for relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'They promised employment.'

'They promised to deal with those responsible for Germany's problems.'

'One leader – traditional values.'

'They issued posters and pamphlets.'

'The SA and SS gave the impression of discipline and order.'

'They organised soup kitchens and hostels for the unemployed.'

(b) Why was Hitler able to become Chancellor in 1933?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'Because he gained support.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'The election results began to favour the Nazi Party.'

'Those appointed Chancellor failed to gain support in the Reichstag.'

'Papen was mistaken about Hitler.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'By 1930 the old hostility to the Weimar Republic had resurfaced. With the Depression and the death of Stresemann, Germany had once again sunk into economic depression. People began to turn to those parties that offered a radical solution to the problems – the Nazis and the Communists.'

'The government coalition led by Müller could not agree on how to deal with the effects of the Depression and in 1930 he resigned, to be succeeded by Brüning. He did not have a majority and had to rely on Hindenburg. This resulted in fewer meetings of the Reichstag and Hindenburg issuing over a hundred presidential decrees.'

'During this time Hitler exploited the government's problems by holding huge rallies and promises to restore the economy. In the elections of September 1930 the Nazis won 107 seats and in July 1932 they won 230 seats.'

'In the Presidential elections of March 1932, Hitler challenged Hindenburg and his position was strengthened by winning 13.4 million votes.'

'On the advice of von Schleicher, Brüning was sacked as he failed to deal with the economic problems. He was replaced by Papen. In the July 1932 elections he hoped to strengthen his position in the Reichstag but the Nazis became the largest single party with 230 seats. Hitler refused to co-operate with Papen.'

'Hitler suffered a setback in November 1932 as they only secured 196 seats. But even so, there was a fear of Communist uprisings if Papen remained in office. Schleicher was made Chancellor but failed to win support in the Reichstag. Papen refused to return but thought that if Hitler was appointed they would be able to control him by packing the cabinet with conservative allies.'

- (c) 'The Reichstag Fire was more important than the Night of the Long Knives in enabling Hitler to establish control over Germany.' How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'They were both equally important.'

Level 2 Identifies reasons [2–3]

e.g. 'After the Reichstag fire Hitler gained an emergency decree.'

'Communists were accused of plotting.'

'It helped Hitler in the elections.'

'The Night of the Long Knives removed opposition.'

'The Night of the Long knives ensured a loyal army.'

Level 3 Explains impact of one [3–5]

e.g. 'Hitler and the Nazis hated the Communists and the arrest of Van der Lubbe gave Hitler evidence that the Communists were plotting against his government. On the night of the fire, 4000 leading Communists were arrested and imprisoned to remove the threat.'

'To increase Nazi control, the next day Hitler persuaded the President to pass an emergency decree suspending all articles in the constitution which had been introduced by the Weimar and which guaranteed personal liberty including freedom of speech. It gave the police powers to search houses, confiscate property and detain people without trial. He used these powers to intimidate voters.'

'The Nazis hated the Reichstag as it was seen as a symbol of the Weimar Republic. Its burning down removed this symbol.'

'The fire occurred just before the March 1933 election. Hitler turned this to his advantage and blamed the Communists, stating it was the beginning of an uprising. He demanded, and was given, special powers to deal with the situation. In the election, the Nazis won their largest ever share of the votes.'

'Hitler did not have an overall majority of seats in the election and so he used the emergency powers to prevent the Communists from taking up the 81 seats they had won.'

OR

'A significant threat to Hitler came from within the Nazi party. The SA had become a major problem. Röhm, leader of the SA, had left-wing views which would offend the businessmen that Hitler now wanted to work with. Röhm also wanted to merge the SA into the German army and for him to have control, but Hitler feared this would lose him the army's support.'

'On 30 June 1934 Hitler ordered the SS to arrest and murder the leaders of the SA. Hundreds were killed including Röhm and von Schleicher. Hitler used the excuse that Röhm was planning a revolution to justify his actions in removing a potential threat to his overall control. He was praised by the president for his actions.'

Level 1 General answer [1–2]

e.g. 'A leisure activity organisation.'

Level 2 Describes the Hitler Youth [2–5]

(One mark for relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'An organisation which offered a variety of leisure pursuits.'
 'An organisation which aimed to control young people.'
 'An opportunity for boys and girls to enjoy weekend trips, camps, walking and sports.'
 'An organisation which indoctrinated young people into accepting Nazi ideas with loyalty and obedience to Hitler.'
 'A training ground for the army with physical activity and military drill.'
 'A training ground for young women in home-making.'

(b) Why did Hitler persecute minority groups in Germany?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'Because of their beliefs.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'Because the Nazis believed they were superior.'
 'They thought other races were not worthy of respect.'
 'Because they had caused Germany to lose the war.'
 'Because they were not Aryans.'
 'Their race was the master race.'
 'To maintain the German race.'
 'To remove opposition.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'Nazis believed they were the master race (Aryan) and that other races were inferior. The Nazis persecuted other groups including homosexuals and the mentally disabled as they did not match up to the master race.'
 'Nazi propaganda blamed the Jews for the defeat in the First World War and the Communists were accused of undermining Germany's efforts in the First World War.'
 'Homosexuality was despised by the Nazis as it was not in keeping with their ideal of Aryan masculinity. Disabled people were also considered as not part of the master race.'
 'People of Eastern European descent also received harsh treatment at the hands of the Nazis, who considered them racially inferior. They also lost their citizenship.'

(c) How successful were the Nazis in winning the support of young people? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'They were not successful as they were often put under pressure to give support.'

Level 2 Identifies aspects of winning / opposition [2–3]

e.g. 'Many joined the Hitler Youth.'
 'Those who opposed joined the Edelweiss Pirates.'
 'There was much indoctrination.'

Level 3 Explains winning support OR opposition [3–5]

e.g. 'The Hitler Youth was founded in 1926. By 1939 it had over seven million members, the vast majority of young Germans. It was used to prepare boys and girls for their roles in life. Many were happy to join as other associations were banned and this offered many activities.'

'The League of German Maidens offered domestic skills and preparation for motherhood. Many were happy to join as there were few other organisations for them. Many enjoyed the activities such as camping and the sports.'

OR

'The Nazis must have thought they were not winning support as they thought it necessary to change the school curriculum so as to indoctrinate young people.'

'In 1936 membership of the Hitler Youth was made compulsory although some young people were reluctant to join. About one million failed to join. Many joined the Catholic Youth organisation rather than the Hitler Youth.'

'In schools, through the curriculum, children were indoctrinated into Nazi ideals and racial beliefs.'

'In the late 1930s gangs began to appear on street corners. They had their own music and looked for Hitler Youth members to beat them up.'

'Some gangs considered themselves part of a wider group called the Edelweiss Pirates. They were anti-authority and anti-Nazi. During the war they helped deserters and escaped prisoners.'

'The "Swing" movement was mainly middle-class teenagers. They listened to American and English music, preferring jazz to regimentation. They accepted Jews at their clubs.'

11 (a) On his return to Russia in April 1917, what immediate actions did Lenin take to weaken the Provisional Government?

Level 1 General answer [1–2]

e.g. 'He weakened the position of the Provisional Government.'

Level 2 Describes actions [2–5]

(One mark for relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'He set out the Bolshevik programme in his April Theses.'
 'He urged people to support the Bolsheviks in a second revolution.'
 'He promised 'Peace, Land and Bread' and 'All power to the Soviets'.
 'He tried to get people to believe the war should end immediately.'

(b) Why, in the second half of 1917, did the authority of the Provisional Government steadily collapse?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'They lost support.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'Lenin changed the power base in the Petrograd Soviet.'
 'The Bolsheviks increased their power.'
 'Unrest in the countryside increased.'
 'The failing war effort increased problems.'
 'They faced the threat of Kornilov.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'Lenin worked to persuade the Bolsheviks to overthrow the Provisional Government by stopping the close co-operation of the Petrograd Soviet and the government by ensuring more Bolsheviks became members.'
 'He began to organise the Bolsheviks. He used money from Germany to do this. The Bolsheviks ran several newspapers to spread their views, local committees were set up and the Red Guard introduced.'
 'The war effort was failing. Soldiers were deserting in their thousands from the army. Kerensky rallied the army for a great 'June Offensive'. It was a disaster. Riots followed.'
 'The returning deserters ignored the orders of the government and began taking control of the countryside. They did not want to miss their turn when land was shared out.'
 'In July (the 'July Days'), Bolshevik-led protests turned into rebellion demanding government by the Soviets. Although Kerensky put the rebellion down, the real power had gone from the upper and middle classes to the Petrograd Soviet.'
 'In August General Kornilov tried to seize power. Kerensky had to turn to the Bolsheviks, the only group who could save him. Kornilov failed but the Bolsheviks emerged with great credit, increased popularity and a majority in the Petrograd and Moscow Soviets.'

(c) 'The Whites lost the Civil War because they failed to agree their aims.' How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'Leadership is always important.'

Level 2 Identifies reasons for success [2–3]

e.g. 'The Whites had no single command. Their leaders had many different aims and ambitions.'
'In 1920 the Whites lost their outside support when foreign powers withdrew their armies and supplies.'

'War Communism maintained supplies.'

'The Bolsheviks were better led and had a better army.'

'The armies of the Whites were spread widely.'

Level 3 Explains Whites lack of clarity of aims OR other reasons [3–5]

e.g. 'The Whites were not united. They were made up of many different groups, all with different aims. An aim for one group was to bring about the return of the Tsar and the landlords. This was unpopular with the peasants. Britain and France sent troops because they were concerned about the rise of Communism.'

'The only aim the Whites had in common was the defeat of the Bolsheviks. They could agree on little else. Some wanted the Tsar back, some a military dictator. Others wanted constitutional government, others revolutionary change. The Bolsheviks only had one aim – to stay in power so that they could build a new Socialist society.'

OR

'The Bolsheviks were united under one leader, fighting for a cause (revolution) and for survival.'

'The Red Army was created and led by Trotsky. He enforced strict discipline and used both encouragement and terror to make soldiers fight. He was a courageous and outstanding leader. When there were not enough officers, he conscripted Tsarist officers into the army, taking their families' hostage to make sure they remained loyal. He established fierce discipline, including summary execution for deserters. He travelled around by train to meet the troops and spur them to greater efforts.'

'To win the war and ensure that the Red Army was fed and equipped Lenin introduced War Communism. The state took over all aspects of the economy, nationalising more industry and controlling the production and distribution of goods.'

'The Whites were geographically split and unable to co-ordinate their efforts as communications were difficult. This enabled Trotsky to defeat them one by one.'

'The Whites had limited support from the Russian people who did not like the Bolsheviks but preferred them to the Whites as they treated people harshly. They realised if the Whites won the landlords would return.'

'The Bolsheviks had control of Moscow and Petrograd and also the railways which enabled arms and food to be supplied and moved to the troops. To win the war and ensure that the red Army was fed and equipped War Communism was introduced. The state took over all aspects of the economy, nationalising more industry and controlling the production and distribution of goods. Peasants were forced to give up all their surplus produce to the government. Food was rationed in the cities. The Cheka was used to seize peasants' grain stores.'

(ii) 'A kolkhoz was a collective farm.'
'A large farm, made up by joining together smaller farms, under collectivisation.'
'A large farm created to introduce more efficient farming methods.'

- (b) Why did Stalin want to modernise the USSR?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'To gain greater control.'
'To make improvements.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'Farming methods were outdated and not producing enough food.'
'Collectivisation fitted in with common ownership.'
'To deal with the kulaks.'
'To transform the Soviet Union.'
'To survive against a capitalist attack.'
'To spread communism.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'The inefficient farming methods were not producing enough food for the workers in the cities and if the USSR was to industrialise successfully even more workers would have to be fed.'
'The government wanted a surplus to sell abroad in order to make the money it needed to spend on developing industry.'
'If he controlled the countryside he could fix the price of food and this would help to keep the wages of the industrial workers down.'
'Stalin wanted to control the countryside and the peasants, particularly the richer peasants called the kulaks, whom he disliked.'
'Stalin believed that the Five Year plans were the only way to transform the Soviet Union into an industrial power in a short space of time. He wanted to reduce the power of the peasants, whom he deeply distrusted, whilst at the same time increasing wealth and providing luxury consumer goods.'

'He felt that the success of the Soviet economy would impress workers around the world and increase the appeal of communism in other countries.'

Level 2 Identifies aspects of success / failure [2–3]

e.g. 'There was limited food for the peasants.'

'The kulaks were wiped out.'

'There was a famine.'

'Food was sold abroad.'

Level 3 Explains success OR failure [3–5]

e.g. 'Stalin had difficulty convincing the peasants about collectivisation. They were being asked to grow crops such as flax for Russia's industry rather than grain to feed themselves.'

'The peasants were suspicious of the government and disliked the idea that the farms were under the control of the local Communist leader. They were concerned about the speed of introduction.'

'The struggle with the kulaks became grim and bitter. The government had to use propaganda against the kulaks and this soon turned to violence. Requisition parties took the food required by the government. Many kulaks were arrested and sent to labour camps.'

'Not surprisingly, food production fell and there was a famine in 1932–3. Millions died in Kazakhstan and the Ukraine, Russia's richest agricultural region.'

OR

'One of the aims was to raise money for his industrial programme by selling food abroad. This did happen.'

Level 1 General answer [1–2]

Level 2 Describes problems [2–5]

(One mark for relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'The demand from Europe fell.'

'Canada was more efficient.'

'There was over-production.'

'Improved machinery such as the combine harvester made US agriculture too efficient.'

'With reduced incomes many farmers could not afford to pay back the loans they had taken out to buy the new machinery; this resulted in eviction and unemployment.'

(b) Why did some US industries not benefit from the economic prosperity of the 1920s?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'Because they had traditional approaches.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'The traditional industries lost markets.'

'People spent their money on cheaper products.'

'Cleaner fuels were used.'

'World trade declined.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'In the long-established traditional industries consumer demand did not grow as fast. The markets for these goods were long established and the products were not new and exciting.'

(c) 'Republican policies were the most important factor in causing the boom in America in the 1920s.' How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'Yes, because they offered protection.'

Level 2 Identifies reasons [2–3]

e.g. 'The government believed in laissez-faire.'
 'Taxation was low.'
 'Tariffs protected home produced goods.'
 'Trade unions were discriminated against.'
 'New technology helped create consumer goods.'
 'The expansion of the car industry boosted the economy.'

Level 3 Explains agreement OR disagreement [3–5]

e.g. 'Presidents Harding and Coolidge believed in a policy of laissez-faire or not interfering with the economy. Instead, they encouraged the growth of industry by low taxes. These encouraged business owners to invest and give consumers more money to spend.'
 'They also protected American industry by introducing tariffs as part of the US isolationist policy. Here a tax was placed on foreign goods coming into the US, making them more expensive than those produced at home and thus making them harder to sell.'
 'The Republican governments did not like trade unions. Employers were allowed to use violence to break strikes and refuse to employ union members. This meant employers could hold down wages and keep working hours long.'

OR

'The widespread availability of electricity created a demand for consumer goods such as radios, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators. This was aided by new products such as rayon, bakelite and cellophane.'
 'The expansion of the motor industry boosted the whole economy as more and more cars were bought. It stimulated other industries such as the oil industry, the construction industry as well as steel, rubber and glass.'
 'The USA was rich in raw materials such as oil, iron ore and coal and did not have to purchase these abroad, keeping down costs.'
 'Increased production of consumer goods increased employment. This meant people had more money to spend on consumer goods and in turn this created demand and encouraged further production.'
 'The consumer boom was encouraged by the easy availability of credit. Hire purchase enabled consumers to buy goods they wanted with a small deposit and then pay the rest off in small weekly or monthly instalments. Mail-order catalogues gave people in every part of the country the chance to benefit from the consumer boom because the latest fashions were available by post.'

The banks were not prepared to support the price of shares and so speculators began selling at a loss.'

22 (a) What dangers were faced by coal miners in the nineteenth century?

Level 1 General answer [1–2]

e.g. 'They faced injury and even death.'

Level 2 Describes dangers [2–5]

(One mark for each relevant point; additional mark for supporting detail.)

e.g. 'The collapsing of the roof caused huge numbers of severe injuries and deaths in many coal mines.'

'Gas was a constant problem, such as carbon dioxide and methane. Methane could explode, causing roof collapses. Naked lights, such as candles, often ignited the gas.'

'Flooding was a problem, especially when digging through to expose an underground lake. This could cause a great loss of life.'

'The enclosed area and lack of ventilation meant coal dust caused lung problems.'

(b) Why was child labour widely used in mines and factories in the first half of the nineteenth century?

Level 1 General answer [1]

e.g. 'There was a plentiful supply.'

'Many children did not go to school.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each)

e.g. 'There were no laws against employing children.'

'Children were a cheap source of labour.'

'The parents could discipline the children at work.'

'A whole family could be employed.'

'There were suitable jobs for children.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for an explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'Until the 1833 Factory Act and the 1842 Mines Act, there had been no successful legislation to restrict the use of children in the factories and mines. Even this legislation was not easily enforced.'

'Child labour was considerably cheaper than adult labour. Mine owners and factory owners said they would not make a profit if they could not employ children.'

'The owners liked to employ families. This meant the parents could ensure their children got to work on time and behaved themselves otherwise the whole family could lose their jobs.'

'There were many jobs 'suitable' for children. In the mines a trapper needed to be small. In the factory a child could crawl under machines to remove the fluff and dirt without having to turn them off.'

'The Factory Acts and Mines Act could not be enforced.'

'Night work stopped.'

'Some did not mind the conditions and were unhappy when they changed.'

Level 3 Explains success OR lack of success [3–5]

e.g. 'Employers like Robert Owen refused to employ under 10s. He was not the norm.'

'The Acts of 1802 and 1819 reduced the hours of orphan apprentices and said no child under 9 was to work. Older children could work no more than 12 hours and not a night.'

'The 1833 Act stopped children under nine working and reduced the hours of older children. No-one under 18 years was to work nights. Four inspectors were appointed.'

'The Mines Act of 1842 stopped children under ten from working underground.'

OR

'There were no inspectors to enforce the early acts and later four inspectors were inadequate for the whole country.'

'Proving the ages of the children was difficult as the registration of births only began in 1836. Parents often gave false ages because they wanted the children to work to earn the family money.'

'If factory owners were taken to court, the fines were low as some factory owners were magistrates.'

'Enforcement of the Mines Act was difficult as mines inspectors were not allowed underground until 1850.'

 'The Public Health Act of 1875 was a major step forward as it was compulsory. Sewers and drains were built, water supply controlled and refuse collected.'

OR

'Improvements were often linked to epidemics rather than necessity and particularly in relation to water supply where little improvement took place until the end of the century.'
 'The Public Health Act of 1848 made little difference because Boards did not have the powers to force towns to improve conditions.'
