Answer Question 1.

1 Source A

In 1942 a fourteen year old girl began a diary about her life in the Netherlands during the Second World War. In her diary she wrote:

'I'm not planning to let anyone else read this ... 'diary', unless I should ever find a real friend, it probably won't make any difference.

Now I'm back to the point that prompted me to keep a diary in the first place: I don't have a friend.

Let me put it more clearly ... I have loving parents and a sixteen year old sister and about thirty people I can call friends ... on the surface I seem to have everything, except my one true friend.'

Adapted from: The Diary of a Young Girl by Anne Frank.
The diary later became a famous historical account.
