Question 1

Refer to Fig. 1, information about the Sri Lanka Tourism Development Authority.

Sri Lanka Tourism Development Authority

The Sri Lanka Tourism Development Authority (SLTDA) is responsible for developing tourism provision in Sri Lanka, an island in the Indian Ocean. Its vision is to make the country the leading tourist destination in the South Asian region.

SLTDA carries out market research activities and publishes monthly statistical bulletins, including data on the number of tourist arrivals, foreign exchange earnings and hotel occupancy rates in Sri Lanka.

SLTDA aims to increase the number of tourist arrivals from approximately 0.5 million in 2008 to 2 million by 2016 through:

- developing integrated resorts throughout the island
- improving the country's existing infrastructure including increasing the number of available bed spaces
- adopting an aggressive marketing campaign.

The year 2011 is 'Visit Sri Lanka Year'.

Question 2

Refer to Fig. 2, information about survey results on adventure tourism in Scotland.

One of the UK's national tourist boards carried out a survey of adventure tourism in Scotland.

The results were as follows:

- more men than women engage in extreme sports such as rock climbing, white water rafting and snowboarding
- more people aged 16 to 24 engage in adventure tourism activities than in any other age groups
- few people aged 65+ participate in adventurous activities at least once a year
- people from all socio-economic groupings take part in adventure tourism, however a larger percentage of people come from the higher social groups
- specialist trade magazines, direct mail and tourist information leaflets were used most often, to find out about adventure tourism activities and providers.

TURN OVER FOR QUESTION 3

Question 3

Refer to Fig. 3, the results of a situation analysis of tourism in Kenya.

- 1: Over-reliance on wildlife safaris and beach tourism.
- 2: Lack of adequate training, control and licensing of tour guides/driver guides etc.
- 3: Kenya offers a unique combination of tourist attractions, with tropical beaches, abundant wildlife in natural habitats and a geographically diverse landscape.
- 4: With a deep-sea port and well-developed international airports, Kenya has the potential to become a regional hub for international travel services.
- 5: Kenya's government remains committed to supporting national tourism initiatives.
- 6: Many tourism markets remain untapped – product diversification in cruise tourism, conference tourism or cultural tourism may be beneficial.
- 7: Foreign exchange earnings in Kenya were down 36% as a result of the global recession in 2008/9.
- 8: Increased competition from neighbouring Tanzania, which is gaining popularity as a tourist destination.
- 9: Domestic tourism has been promoted successfully with increased numbers of Kenyans enjoying leisure breaks in the coastal area.
